

A conversation with renowned reproductive rights
activist and scholar

MARLENE GERBER FRIED

Co-Director, Civil Liberties and Public Policy, Hampshire College

THE FUTURE OF ACTIVISM IN A TIME OF SHRINKING ABORTION ACCESS

Wednesday,
April 16th, 2014
12:30-1:20pm

Harvard School of Public Health
FXB-G13

All are welcome!

Light refreshments will be served.

An outstanding scholar activist, Marlene Gerber Fried is one of few women in the US who have done as extensive organizing, educating and research around Reproductive Health and Justice issues. Dr. Fried is a Professor of Philosophy and Co-Director of the Civil Liberties and Public Policy Program at Hampshire College, receiving her Ph.D. from Brown University. She has edited or co-authored prize-winning books on reproductive health and rights, and was co-author of the 2005 Abortion chapter in Our Bodies, Ourselves. For more than a quarter of a century Marlene has drawn thousands of students to the inspiring Hampshire annual conference, "From Abortion Rights to Social Justice: Building the Movement for Reproductive Freedom", a unique weekend immersion in these issues with activists and experts from across the globe. Marlene Gerber Fried co-founded and continues to serve several US and overseas Reproductive Rights organizations. Her 2013 article, "Reproductive Rights Activism Since Roe v. Wade", was published in the American Journal of Public Health.

Sponsored by

WOMEN, GENDER & HEALTH

INTERDISCIPLINARY CONCENTRATION