Peruvian Cinema of the Twenty-First Century

Dynamic and Unstable Grounds

- Frames and conceptualizes the growth of Peruvian cinema within the larger scope of Latin American and global film studies
- Provides a useful and ample set of tools to address the complex functioning of current filmmaking and consumption in Peru
- Observes how economic and political transformations are expressed and discussed in the cultural sphere

"This volume brings together scholars from Peru, Europe, and the United States whose lucid essays situate Peruvian film production within a global context. The breadth of this volume makes it essential reading for those interested both in Latin American cinema and Peruvian culture." - Carolina Rocha, Southern Illinois University Edwardsville, USA "This ground-breaking collection uniquely illuminates the vibrant panorama of contemporary Peruvian cinema. Recognized mostly for its internationally feted art films, now the full picture comes into sharp focus, acknowledging Peru's metropolitan rom coms, artisanal digital indies, regional commercial films, female-led non-fiction, shorts, experimental and indigenous filmmaking. Undoubtedly this will be a "go to" text for Peruvian cinema for at least the next decade." - David Martin-Jones, University of Glasgow, UK "This volume makes a convincing case for 21st-century Peruvian films as a distinct body of work. It usefully charts the changing landscape of Peru's film legislation while offering a cogent grouping of the films, the aim being to clarify the different aspirations of contemporary Peruvian filmmakers and the diversity of their approaches to film production and audience building. This fine collection makes a most welcome contribution to the study of 'small' national cinemas." - Mette Hjort, Hong Kong Baptist University, Hong Kong This is the first English-language book to provide a critical panorama of the last twenty years of Peruvian cinema.
